Now You're Cooking

Ginger Porterhouse Steaks with Roasted Sesame Salt

Prep time: 20 minutes:

Grilling time: 6 to 8 minutes

3 tablespoons vegetable oil

2 tablespoons finely grated fresh ginger

2 teaspoons kosher salt

1½ teaspoons ground black pepper

2 porterhouse steaks, each about 1¼ pounds and 1 inch thick, trimmed of excess fat

Salt

3 tablespoons sesame seeds

1 teaspoon kosher salt

½ teaspoon ground black pepper

1. In a small bowl mix the oil, ginger, salt, and pepper. Smear the mixture on both sides of each steak. Allow the steaks to stand at room temperature for 15 to 30 minutes before grilling.

2. Prepare the grill for direct cooking over high heat (450° to 550°F).

3. Heat a 10-inch skillet over medium heat. Add the salt ingredients. Cook until deep golden brown, 5 to 10 minutes, stirring occasionally with a wooden spoon to prevent burning. Divide the roasted salt evenly among four small dipping bowls.

4. Brush the cooking grates clean. Grill the steaks over direct high heat, with the lid closed as much as possible, until cooked to your desired doneness, 6 to 8 minutes for medium rare, turning once or twice (if flare-ups occur, move the steaks temporarily over indirect heat). Remove from the grill and let rest for 3 to 5 minutes. Serve warm with the salt. Guests are meant to dip an edge of each slice of steak in the salt.

Serves: 4

Spicy Yogurt Cucumber Dip

Ingredients:

2 cups diced cucumbers (leave skin on); not too small to avoid extra liquid

2 cups plain yogurt (higher fat% is better)

1/2 cup chopped walnuts

1/2 cup raisins

1/2 tsp cayenne pepper

1/2 tbsp dried dill

1 tsp garlic powder

Salt & pepper to taste

1 bag Tostitos Blue Corn Tortilla Chips

Directions:

Mix all in bowl; enjoy with Tostitos Blue Corn Tortilla Chips.

Fresh Fruit Kebobs with Maple Vanilla Dipping Sauce

Looking for new ways to serve fruit to your family – these grilled fruit kebobs may be just the ticket.

Maple Vanilla Dipping Sauce

1 cup (250 mL) plain yogurt, preferably thick Balkan-style

3 tbsp (45 mL) pure maple syrup

1 tsp (5 mL) orange peel

½ tsp (2 mL) vanilla

Fruit Kebobs

4 8- to 10-inch (20- to 25-cm) skewers

2 California kiwi

1 California pear

1 California nectarine or peach

¼ cup (59 mL) California grapes

8 1-inch (2.5 cm) cubes pound or angel cake (optional)

1 tbsp (15 mL) butter, melted

1 tsp (5 mL) granulated sugar

½ tsp (2 mL) cinnamon

If skewers are wooden, soak in water for 20 minutes. Meanwhile, oil grill and preheat to medium-low. Stir yogurt with maple syrup, orange peel and vanilla.

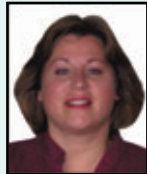

Peel kiwi and cut into large bite-size chunks. Peel pear if you wish. Then cut pear and nectarines into 1-inch (2.5 cm) wedges. Thread fruit randomly with cake, if using, onto skewers.

Stir butter with sugar and cinnamon. Place skewers on grill and barbecue turning frequently until fruit is hot and cake is grilled, about 4 minutes. Just before removing from grill, brush fruit with butter mixture. Serve with Maple Vanilla Dipping Sauce.

Makes 4 skewers with ¼ cup (50 mL) dipping sauce per skewer.

Environment Watch: How To Recycle Your Cell Phone

(NC)—Did you know that approximately two thirds of Canadians with a cell phone in storage would be willing to recycle it? Recycle My Cell is a free national program that enables Canadians to properly dispose of their cell phones and other wireless devices and accessories. The program's Web site – www.RecycleMyCell.ca – is maintained by the Canadian Wireless Telecommunications Association, the group representing Canada's cell phone carriers and handset manufacturers.

The site allows consumers to simply enter their postal code to locate the drop-off location closest to them where their devices will be accepted, regardless of brand or condition. If you can't drop off your old cell phone in person, the Recycle My Cell Web site also provides postage-paid labels that consumers can print, so recycling a wireless device is always hassle-free, at no cost to the consumer.

How ICE On Your Cell Phone, iPhone Or iPod Can Help Save Your Life - And Possibly Someone Else's

(ARA) - It keeps you in touch with friends, family and business contacts. It's a source of entertainment, whether you play games on it or surf the Web. But did you know your cell phone can help save your life or the lives of others in an emergency situation, even if you're in no condition to use it to call for help?

When a debilitating crisis occurs like an accident or illness, emergency teams that respond to the scene will want to have as much information as possible about your health - including contact information for the person who can make decisions on your behalf.

Your cell phone can often speak on your behalf when you're incapacitated. Emergency personnel are trained to look in your phone for phone numbers designated with the acronym "ICE" - which stands for "In Case of Emergency." They'll use that information to get in touch with someone who can make decisions for you.

Some cell phones already come pre-programmed with the ICE function, so all you have to do is punch in the appropriate numbers. If you're among the 50 million North Americans who own an iPhone or iPod Touch, you can place all your critical medical information in the hands of emergency personnel by using the free ICE App. To download ICE App for free, log on to the iPhone Apps Store and search "ICE-app" or visit www.ice-app.net.

Created by online legal service LegalZoom.com and Donate Life America, ICE App allows emergency responders to access information about you, including your name, a photograph (to match the phone to you), birth date, height and weight, medical conditions, blood type, allergies, medications, emergency contacts and your organ donation wishes - a feature that could help save the lives of people waiting for organ donations.

Ninety percent of North Americans think organ donation is the right thing to do, yet only 28 percent have taken the appropriate steps to register as an organ donor. If you don't have an iPhone, you can register as a donor at donatelife.net.

"Having emergency contact and medical history information immediately available in your cell or smart phone can help emergency responders make quicker decisions during those precious first minutes, a time that could mean the difference between life and death," says Brian Liu, cofounder and chairman of LegalZoom.

Once you've downloaded the app to your iPhone, follow the on-screen prompts to complete the contact and medical information. Once you're done, place the ICE App icon in the top right corner of your touch screen, where first responders will see it right away when they check your phone. All information is stored on your phone, and not on the Web, ensuring your private information stays in your possession and that first responders can access it, even when the phone has a weak or no cellular signal.
